

Edinburgh's budget challenge – your city, your say

This is your city, so please take the opportunity to have your say on how we spend money and deliver services over the next four years.

We listened to peoples' views last year which made a difference to Council decisions.

Edinburgh's population is growing. By 2019/20 providing services is expected to cost £1.088bn but our income is only expected to be £962m. So how do we save £126m and make sure we can provide the services that are important to the people of Edinburgh?

Have your say -10 December 2015

Visit our website to find out about our budget and the 2016-20 proposals. Take a look at the overview, or download the full proposals and have your say on our survey.

Tell us your ideas about how you think we should deliver services differently, save money, and increase income through our online 'your city, your say' dialogue page, and rate and comment on other people's suggestions too.

You can also take part in this year's online planner and tell us how you think we should deliver services.

Your feedback will help the Council to make its final budget decisions in early 2016. We will keep you posted about next steps and the findings.

Know someone who wants to have their say?

Please share this with your friends, family, colleagues and community and encourage others to have their say.

Find out more

www.edinburgh.gov.uk/budget

If you do not wish to receive further emails about the Edinburgh Budget Challenge, please reply and include 'unsubscribe' in the email heading.