

If you hit someone whilst exceeding the speed limit or in a careless or dangerous manner, the consequences could be life changing. Not just for the person you knock down, but also for you and those close to you.

Some possible implications include:

- Court/prison
- Driving licence points
- Being disqualified from driving
- Losing your job
- Increased motor insurance costs
- Financial penalties

and most significantly, having to live with the consequences of your actions.

Police Scotland and the school children of North East Edinburgh, would jointly like to invite you to slow down in built up areas.
